Dylan Henderson

Dylan Henderson enjoys a multi-faceted career as an emerging pianist, writer, musicologist and arts administrator. He recently completed his performance-based PhD at the Elder Conservatorium of Music at the University of Adelaide (graduating in September 2023), having received a first-class honours degree in classical piano performance in 2018.

Dylan's practice-led research investigates the impact of period instruments on the music of Fryderyk Chopin. During his PhD candidature, Dylan was the winner of the 2020 Chopin Study Competition for Young Researchers (presented by the Fryderyk Chopin Institute in Warsaw); gave a two-hour all-Chopin recital by candlelight at UKARIA Cultural Centre; performed Chopin's Concerto in F minor, Op. 21 with the Elder Conservatorium Symphony Orchestra; received a Dean's Commendation for Doctoral Research Thesis Excellence; and was nominated for the University of Adelaide Research Medal.

Since 2016 he has studied with Professor Anna Goldsworthy and the esteemed Russian pedagogue Eleonora Sivan and is currently working as a research assistant on Goldsworthy and Sivan's new book Heart to Heart – a companion to the acclaimed memoir Piano Lessons.
